

Blue curves are distributions of the differences between measurements from CNAP and invasive arterial blood pressure measurements in individual studies. The red curve is the distribution of the pooled estimate.